The Tradition of the Jefferson-Jackson Dinner

According to one source, the traditional Jefferson-Jackson Dinner "commemorates the happy compatibility of theory and practice" in the historical development of the Democratic Party. "Jefferson gave the Democratic Party its being, Jackson gave it its full meaning." Jefferson-Jackson Dinners are held throughout the country, often in February or March. In presidential election years they provide an excellent platform for candidates contending in the primaries. The Jefferson-Jackson Dinners in Iowa and New Hampshire are particularly notable in this regard. However, there are no hard and fast rules about the when and why of Jefferson-Jackson celebrations. You can read an excellent précis of the history of the party, and of Jefferson's and Jackson's roles in that history, at www.nydemocrats.org/html/origins.html.
